THE Laniel Government has scraped through with the alender majority of two, but there is not much reason to assume that it will last longer than the Geneva conference. Two hundred Communists and Socialists voted against, but so did two-thirds of the orthodox Gaulist roted against, but so did two-thirds of the orthodox Gaulist protection, the U.R.A.S. including the brother of the General Monsabert and others. Also in the opposition were about half of the small Democratic Socialist group (UDSR — a left-wing centre group to which the Minister of Defence, M. Pleven belongs) and about twenty Radical Socialists, among them M. Mendes France and M. Daladier. But it is the misfortune of France that no alternative government to be constituted of this opposition can be envisaged. The De Gaullists may see eye to eye with the Communister as far as their nomesibe envisaged. The De Gaullists may see eye to eye with the Communists as far as their opposition to E.D.C. is concerned, but they fall to find common ground on the Union Francaise and France d'outremer. And though Messrs Jules Moch and Daniel Mayer on one hand, and Messrs. Pierre Flandin and Georges Bonnet on the other happen to dislike E.D.C., this will never make up a Popular Front—even if it should receive M. Daladier's blessing.

WHEN General Juin was asked by the French Premier to give explanations about his political statements which had not been cleared with the Cabinet, he reportedly said to his fellow officers: "To give account to the State? Well, this presupposes the existence of a State, doesn't it?" Unfortunately, this cannot be discarded as the wisecrack of someone belonging to a professional group among whom Republican enthusiasm has never been overwhelming. The process of disintegration has proceeded too far for glib and reassuring comment. The present acute crisis, if very much prolonged, would not merely cause a major and perhaps lasting dislocation in the West European balance of power following the French eclipse, it would put an end to the attempts to achieve closer Western European collaboration in all fields. And this, after all, is the sole guarantee in the world of today for the survival of European culture.

Labour Sweeps Local Elections In Britain

LONDON, Saturday (UP).— The Labour Party made sweeping gains in yesterday's local elec-tions in nearly 400 boroughs, which are regarded as a test of the trend of political opinion in Britain.

According to final results, La-bour gained over 400 seats, while the Conservatives lost close to that number. The remaining losses were sustained by Inde-pendents.

There were no elections in the London metropolitan area.

In the industrial North where the Conservatives had been counting on making some gains, the swing towards Labour was particularly marked.

In Manchester, returns showed five Labour gains from the Conservatives and Labour victories in all the six new wards where elections were held for the first time.

In Birmingham, Labour gained 10 seats, in Leeds six, in Nottingham three and in Liverpool two. Only in traditionally Conservative Portsmouth, Labour lost one seat to the Tories.

The Labour Party General Secretary, Mr. Morgan Philips, hailed the results as a definite indication that the country was swinging away from the government.

The increased wave of infiltration from Jordan is another step in a well-planned Arab scheme to sabotage Israel. This scheme, initiated two years ago, was drafted by Ahmed Shukeiry. Assistant Secretary-General of the Arab League

On Border—Economist'
LONDON, Saturday (INA).
— The "Economist" today proposed the construction of a high-voltage "electric curtain' along the Israel-Jordan border with neon and arc lights as one way of ending constant border clashes.

This would point immediately to frontier violations and would enable civilians in the border areas to enjoy quiet nights and relieve the two governments of spending large sums on defence.
On the question of U.S. military aid to the Arab States, the "Economist" says that this has been welcomed by the Arabs not because it improves their security against Russia, but because it increases their strength against Israel.

Ends with UJA Pact

The World Sephardi Federation will receive 25% of the United Jewish Appeal monies raised among the Sephardi communities of Latin America and Britain, according to an agreement reached with the Jewish Agency and approved at the closing session of the Second Congress of the World Sephardi Federation held in Jerusalem during last week.

Other resolutions adopted at the Friday morning closing session, which was terminated by the singing of "Hatikva" were: Full cooperation with the World Jewish Congress; a call to immigrants and ma'bara residents to settle on the land and to participate in the economic, social and cultural life of the State; asking the Government to enlarge the scholarship fund for children of Oriental origin; and a call to the youth of all Oriental Jewish communities to come to Israel en masse to share in building the State.

These circles point out that the MAC. Chairman seems little inclined to investigate the Jordanian allegations thoroughly. Above all, he seems to have failed to realize that Jordanian allegations and her linability to defend herself there, to pile up charges and to keep the "Palestine" problem alive in public and international discussions.

There is a feeling here that both of the recent speeches of Mr. Henry Byroade have been received with little enthusiasm in the Arab world which will never be satisfied by any speech made by the Assistant Secretary of State in which he does not announced a break in Israel-US. This point is further brought out by the recent statement of the Wafdist Foreign Minister of Egypt, Dr. Mohammed Salah e-Din, who declared that the Arabs should not deceive them-selves and the world by stating they would recognize Israel, nor make peace with her even then," he declared in Cairo. "We demand that Israel should vanish from the Middle East map."

General of the Arab League who was born in Acre.

The "Shukeiry Scheme," as it is known in the Arab world, provides for settling refugees and establishing refugee camps close to the Israel-Arab Armistice Lines. These refugees, which serve as the main instruments for the guerrilla war, are consistently encouraged to infiltrate, murder and loot inside Israel.

By JESSE ZEL LURIE

Jerusalem Post Correspondent

NEW YORK, Saturday. — According to reports from Istanbul, the Assistant Secretary of State, Mr. Henry Byroade, told the conference of U.S. envoys which ended yesterday that the U.S. Government was deeply concerned at the deterioration of the situation along Israel's borders.

Since Soviet vetoes had made the Security Council ineffective, he suggested and the envoys-concurred, that the U.S. must immediately initiate talks with Britain and France to give additional force to the 1850 tripartite declaration with concrete suggestions for its implementation.

Urges Israel Return to MAC

To aliay the fears of aggression on both sides was the only way to prepare for eventual peace negotiations, according to the U.S. diplomats. Fet the conference, the French Secretary of State, Mr. Walter Bedell Smith, accused the Viet. minh rebels of not living up to their promise of releasing all seriously wounded prisoners regardless of their nationality, and of holding back native to their pompies of releasing the their promise of releasing the Mixed Armistice Commission, which in view of Mr. Byroade's opinion on the Security Council may mean that the three Powers will continue to reply to U.N. requests while by-passing the Council itself.

"The U.S. and France today accused the Communist blood of breaking the first agreement reached at the Geneva Conference is elso tripartite declaration of seriously wounded prisoners foreign Minister, M. Georges Bidault. and the U.S. Undersequence is also reported to have urged State Department pressure on Israel to return to the Mixed Armistice Commission, which in view of Mr. Byroade's opinion on the Security Council may mean that the three Powers will continue to reply to U.N. requests while by-passing the Council itself.

"The New York Times" reported to develop the promise of the complexity of the Vietninh representatives at Geneva, although he had no reason to doubt that the rael.

The volume of infiltration is "coordinated" to meet Arab demands on the international scene and the entire scheme is regarded as a preparatory stage for a large-scale revolt by the Palestine Arabs which will culminate in their "march" on Israel to "liberate" their fatherland. Table 10 liberate their assets land.

The recent mass condemnations of Israel by the Israel-Jordan Mixed Armistice Commission is regarded in political circles here as hardly likely to encourage this country to return to M.A.C. sessions at an early Council itself.

"The New York Times" reports that a "reinforced" declaration would rob Arab politicians of their great psychological advantage with which they refuse to enter into peace talks with Israel. According to the "Times" report, renewed tripartite assurances, the diplomats felt, would calm Israel fears that Iraq would use U.S. military aid for aggressive purposes and would also assure the Arab states against suspicions of armed aggression by Israel.

Mr. Byroade, who presided at Mr. Byroade, who presided at the conference, left Istanbul for Ankara today to exchange views with Turkish officials.

Shukeiry Scheme Aims To Sabotage Israel By Us Officials West Expected to Agree To Soviet Plan on Indo-China Soviet Plan on Indo-China

In his reply made at a press conference this afternoon, Mr. Molotov said that the Western Ministers should have addressed their compaint directly to the Vietminh representatives at Geneva, although he had no reason to doubt that the principle of non-discrimination would be faithfully observed.

Vietminh Agree To Evacuate 1,000

HANOI, Saturday. — The Vietminh rebels have agreed to the evacuation of about 1,000 French Union wounded from Dien Bien Phu, instead of 450 as originally scheduled, according to a member of the French Medical team who returned from their mercy mission today.

The French Command said last night that 18 French wounded had been evacuated by helicopters from Dien Bien Phu, despite a delay caused by bad weather. The helicopters brought the wounded men to Laos from where they were flown to Hanoi.

Several U.N. observers have gradually adapted themselves to the primitive deception of Azmi Nashashibi. says "Haboker" (General Zionist) in its leading article, expressing doubt whether Israel will be able to return to the commission unless some of the more one-sided proponents of the more one-sided proponents of the Jordan cause among the observers had been repiaced. The "Ha'aretz' (Independent) political correspondent reports that the frequent votes of censure against Israel which now follow in rapid succession in what has remained of the Jordan armistice commission make the return difficult if not impossible. "Zmanim" (Progressive) says that there will be no Security Council debate unless Jordan is compelled from the very beginning to declare her readiness to accept whatever decision the Council takes.

D. Ben Gurion writing in "Davar" (Histadrut) draws parallels between present American policy in the Middle East and the line off appeasement of Chamberlain in the same part of the world on the eve of the Second World War. He recalls an almost textual resemblance between the present American thesis and the speeches of the British representatives, notably Maiecolm Maedonald, at the Round Table conference of War, He recalls an almost textual resemblance between the present American thesis and the speeches of the British representatives, notably Maicolm Maedonald, at the Round Table conference of 1939 ("In an eventual coming world conflict very much depends on the good will of the Arab governments, His Majesty's Governments has received very discovernment has received very discovernments.

world conflict very much depends on the good will of the Arab governments. His Majesty's Governments has received very disconcerting reports about Arab public opinion from its representatives in the Middle Eastern Capitals' etc. etc.) The unfortunate results of this pseudo-realism are well known.

Others dealing with the Byroade speeches include Mr. M. Begin in "Herut", M. Keren in "Ha aretz" (the complains about emotional exaggeration in the reactions of many Israel spokesmen) and A. Tarshish, who also comments on several "misunderstandings" between Israel and the Soviet Union, in "Al Hamishmar" (Mapam).

Mr. I. Barell in "Davar" says

Mr. Z. Ben-Shahar: "Rabbi Moshe Ben Maimon (Rambam) as an Astronomer": 8.15 p.m., Rausbonne Auditorium.

Exhibitions:—Exhibition of "Small Greek Sculpture", continuing exhibition of oils and charcoal drawings by Litvinovsky Display of Pessach and Omer utensils, National Museum Bezalel, 9-1, 16 n.m. mar" (Mapam).

Mr. L. Barell in "Davar" says that now is the time to establish diplomatic relations with communist China while A. Ahimer in "Herut" belie is that the real reason for the Byroade of Somany pro-Soviet sympathizers among Israel foreign policy makers.

In its editorial "Al Hamishmar" expresses unhappiness about the "undesirable visit" of the Amer-"undesirable visit" of the American deputy chief of staff, while "Kol Ha'am" (Communist) attacks several Mapam leaders as "McCarthyites" — apparently for having called Dr. Sneh and Mikunis "Communists" and having opposed the joint appearance at the Soviet Army Forest celebrations

Butters and Editor General G By GERDA LUFT
THE Knesset opened its summer session with a farreaching exploration of the stormy seas of foreign policy. The Prime Minister charted the course in his opening statement, and the vast majority of the House followed his directions faithfully. Even the opposition of both extreme wings deviated less than usual from the general line. This is to be explained by the central position which the problem of immigration occupied in the debate, obscuring, rather regrettably, the supply of arms to Iraq. an issue the importance of which must urgently be impressed on the State Department.

On the first day of the foreign policy debate it immediately became apparent that six hours were more than ample time. The declaration of the first of the proposals and the fight over the allocation of funds from the deveroposals and the fight over the allocation of funds from the deveroposals and the fight over the allocation of funds from the deveroposals and the fight over the allocation of funds from the deveroposals and the fight over the allocation of funds from the deveroposals and the fight over the allocation of funds from the deveroposals and the fight over the allocation of funds from the deveroposals and the fight over the allocation of funds from the deveroposals and the fight over the allocation of the Prime Minister and the Defence Min-
